The Sacrifices of War

The Lake of the Woods Milling Company has had a prosperous year, so prosperous that it is now in a position to be able to give its shareholders a dividend of $1.00 per share for the year ending last year. The Milling Trust is in a position to be able to give its shareholders a dividend of $1.00 per share for the year ending last year.

Is a Fact

Residents of adjacent districts claim that the square is not the only part of the pig which the packers do not utilize. They allege that certain unsavory odors are not made use of, and that these permeate the atmosphere to the discomfort of the community. It is a fact that the packers do not utilize the square, and that these odors are not made use of, and that these permeate the atmosphere to the discomfort of the community.

ada has been a failure, both as the agency for procuring the war and the agency for administering public affairs. It is now under a fire of protests from those who helped to establish it.

The Dreamer's Fate

Four years ago the Kaiser was the most optimistic of the world. See what it is bringing him. He was so blinded by the glitter of prospective success that he forgot to gain the attention. He and his advisers have made a good many mistakes in the last four years. Their primary mistake was in failing to recognize that the world was bigger than Germany, and that if he marshalled his resources to defend itself, he and his world-power dreams must perish.

Getting Out

The Allied armies are ably seconded by President Wilson's proposal that the German armies get out of France and Belgium. For some weeks the rule has been maintained that an Allied attack would be made. The main attack, however, came from the west, between Cambrai and St. Quentin, resulted in the rout of German armies totalling a quarter of a million along a twenty-mile front, and the complete breaking of this sector of the Hindenburg line. The German army is now operating in the open country on the rear of the retreating enemy. Willingly or otherwise, the invaders are getting out of the occupied territory.

Explanations From a Supporter

The Calgary Herald is indulging daily in hysterics, both on the front page and on the editorial page. The main attack, however, came from the west, between Cambrai and St. Quentin, resulted in the rout of German armies totalling a quarter of a million along a twenty-mile front, and the complete breaking of this sector of the Hindenburg line. The German army is now operating in the open country on the rear of the retreating enemy. Willingly or otherwise, the invaders are getting out of the occupied territory.

The Jackson Case

E. E. A. Jackson of Edmonton has been acquitted of attempt to bribe, in Calgary, Lt.-Col. J. C. Magee, assistant provost marshal for the three western provinces. The evidence showed that Jackson gave Magee money. That Magee was drunk when he took the money. That Magee had taken for the money and had laid information against him.

That there was a monetary transaction between Jackson and Magee is established and that the circumstances under which the transaction took place were not creditable to either of the parties, the fact is to inspire respect for confidence in the administration of the Military Service Act is also established.

Jackson has been the pivotal point of a succession of rumors which began when the draft law of April 1917 began to be enforced. At the time he was in the employ of Cornack & Mackie, barristers. In the course of business the firm applied to Jackson for the services of his legal services in securing exemption for drafted men. Jackson was largely employed in this work.

Matters did not proceed very far when rumors began to circulate that the monetary considerations were found to weigh more heavily in securing favorable consideration of claims for release from military service, either temporary or permanent, than the respective merits of the several cases. When these rumors became known to the public, Cornack & Mackie publicly announced the disassociation of Jackson from the case.

Although he had ceased to be employed by a law firm and was not a member of the Alberta Bar, Jackson continued to act as counsel or agent, securing, or purporting to secure temporary or permanent exemptions from military service. Rumor gave instances of men who had mortgaged their homesteads to pay fees to or through Jackson to secure exemption for their sons. The detailed facts may have been true, but there were strange and unaccountable inequalities in the exemptions granted.

It was never supposed that Mr. Jackson's outstanding legal ability was what secured special consideration for his clients. The common understanding was that Jackson was able to "square" some of the exemptions, or to secure exemptions for his clients by the use of his influence with the military authorities.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HE WOULD SEE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little River, O.R., C.B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headache, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'."

"In a week, things were improved. The constipation was corrected, and soon I was free of pain, headache and that miserable feeling that accompanies dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous."

Gold Washing in River Was Big Enterprise in Early Days

Not so very many years ago the placer miner, with his "crucible" and sluice box was a familiar figure along the river banks in the Edmonton area. It has always been known that very fine and fairly in quantity, and varying extremely in quantity, of gold was taken from many of the bars along the river front in the early days of the number of years that this knowledge has been revealed, the origin of the gold has never been explained, nor although

POLLY OF THE CIRCUS AT THE ORPHEUM

What has been called by many as the sweetest story ever told is "Polly of the Circus," which will be the offering at the Orpheum theatre for the first three days of next week, opening with a special Thanksgiving matinee on Monday afternoon, commencing at 2 p.m. The play opens with a circus band from its cage, causing a panic and in the heroine's interest. It is the minister of the village who shoots the lion and carries little Polly to the home where she is given treatment, the show going on without her. The people of the village resent the minister's action, but the young preacher has grown so fond of her that he will not permit her being sent away. The minister's father tells to Polly and convinces her that she will still be the church's future. It is the main, so she decides to go. Again her preacher-lover comes and follows her as she leaves. They meet in the hotel parlor and he pleads with her to return. The preacher's father happens in and is accused by his son of sending Polly away, whereupon the father tells a story of his late wife, he also loved but was forced to give the girl up because his parents objected. Then he attacks Polly's parentage, and she defends her mother, calling her by her true name, which turns out to be the name of the father's first love. Her forgiveness is asked, but she returns to the ring where she is naturally suited. The final stage plays there is a happy ending in "Polly of the Circus," the finale is particularly pleasing. The play for the last three days of the week will be "Young Mr. Winthrop."

SUGGESTIONS WANTED FOR EAST END RINK

Entertainment May be Extended This Year if Residents of Locality Ask

Now is the time for east end people, if they have any suggestions to make as to the winter program at the East End Park, for them to come along with them to the city commissioners. The rink at the east end park is quite an institution, and attracts a good many people to the park during the course of the winter months. Possibly the entertainment might be extended or amplified in some way, and there might be some idea on the subject worthy of consideration.

The lake and surroundings are now being got into shape for the winter and the street railway department has been asked to give a report on the proposed working of the rink this year.

ORPHEUM PLAYERS ARE WELL LIKED BY THE PUBLIC

The Orpheum Players have won for themselves a permanent niche in the theatre of the Edmonton theatre-going public by their splendid performance of the last week. "The House of Glass," presented the first three days of this week, was probably the best dramatic effort that has been seen this regular theatre season. "The House of Glass," which is presented for the last time tonight, is a wonderfully clever comedy that has taken on very well.

For the future Mr. Blaine has some fine presentations in store, and the programs for next week are most attractive, starting Monday with a special Thanksgiving matinee, at which all seats will be reserved, he will present the beautiful story of "Polly of the Circus." It will also be shown Tuesday and Wednesday with the regular souvenir matinee Wednesday.

Protect the Higher Value of your Household Goods and Properties

THE value of your property has outgrown the size of your fire insurance policy—that is immediately evident to the householder or business man who attempts to replace anything bought in 1915 or before.

Your insurance policy written on the 1915, 1916 or 1917 basis of valuation is an undersized garment of protection. It fits present valuation as poorly as a youth's suit fits a full-grown man.

If you have a fire today your 1918 value is burning up and your fire insurance return will be for what your goods were worth in 1915, 1916 or 1917.

It is imperative to extend your insurance. It is important to enlarge your protection to a point that will cover the replacement value of your goods—your protection is meagre until you do so.

It is as foolhardy to travel along with half enough insurance as it is to take a half dose of medicine to economize. You're after full protection just as you seek absolute cure. Phone for any of the agents listed below. Do it today. Insure for the present value of your goods instead of the past value. Be repaid for what you are worth. It isn't safe to delay.

THE WAR AND YOUR WARDROBE

In the following table are listed a few of the materials that go into a suit of clothes, giving their average cost before the war as compared with their average cost today:

	Before the War	Present Price
Hairs, per yard	$0.65	$2.25
Buttons, per gross	1.00	1.75
Canvas, per yard	.16	.75
Cotton back Satin, 22-in., yard	.45	1.25
General Cotton goods. Average advance from 150% to 300%
Hair Cloth, per yard	.18½	.45
Holland, per yard	.15	.50
Inside vest linings, per yard	.15	.75
Linen thread, per lb.	2.00	4.25
Pant pocketings, per yard	.11	.28
Rubber, per lb.	.72½	2.25
Sewing silk, per lb.	8.25	16.00
Silks, per yard	.14	.60
Silks. Average advance of 60%
Sleeve linings, per yard	.37	.75
Silk sleeve linings, per yard	1.15	2.75
Tapes, per spool	3.75	7.25
Wadding, per bale	6.50	18.00

Prices are still rising. Since this list went to press, pant pocketings have been quoted 50c per yard.

As there has been so much talk about the increased cost of woollens, it is interesting to know just what these increases have been. The following figures are authentic:

The well-known American Woolen Co., style D3192 that sold for Fall 1914 at $2.25½ now sells for $9.00. Style 9613-1 during the same period has advanced from $2.00 to $8.50. Standard Kersey, 28 ounce, that sold in 1914 for $2.50 a yard, sold in 1917 for $9.50. No prices have been quoted on this fabric so far this year. All the mills formerly making this cloth are now producing uniform fabrics. Standard clay worsteds that sold in 1914 for $1.95 a yard, sold in January and February of this year for $8.00. Serges that sold in 1914 for $1.35, are selling today at $6.50. Twelve ounce Thibets that sold in 1914 for 95c, sold in 1917 for $3.50. No price quoted in 1918.

Even this does not exhaust the list of factors that have increased the cost of a suit of clothes. The increase in price of all food-stuffs and almost every necessity has made it necessary to pay higher wages, while income taxes, excess profit taxes and many other items have increased the overhead expense of doing business.

Since these shifting prices are absolutely beyond the control of any or all branches of the clothing business, the only thing to do is to adjust one's self and one's business to the change.

The foregoing facts are being published, co-operatively, by the clothiers whose names are signed to this page.

We want to put the facts before you exactly as they exist. We want you to understand that higher prices are not the result of any profiteering on our part, but the outcome of conditions that we cannot control.

We are selling as close as we dare. We have protected our customers to the best of our ability. The increase in the price of our clothing at retail is not as large as the increase at wholesale.

FATE OF DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW RESTS WITH CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The daylight saving law will remain in effect until rescinded by congress until a bill passed today by the senate measure, which was endorsed by Chairman Haruch of the war priorities board, in the interest of economy, now goes to the house. Under the present law the clocks are turned back an hour on Oct. 11.

CIVIL SERVANTS.
GARDEN PRODUCE, 1111 St. James Street, N. W.

Big Yields From 3 1/2 Acres Cultivated at the Parliament Buildings.

As a result of the gardens that were put in by the civil servants this year the estimate of the garden produce for the year amounted to $12.50. This was a large yield for 3 1/2 acres of land and leaves a large surplus of produce for each acre of over $2.50. This land was in the State last back of the parliament buildings, and was the object of all garden lovers who were interested in the appearance of the several little plots. There was a lot of hard work expended but the results would seem to have justified the labor.

Next year another piece of land will be available for the same purpose and is being ploughed and made ready this fall.

It is hardly of the adult department, however, that the results of the year are to be seen, but it is a good thing that the children of the city are so interested in the garden.

A meeting of members is called for this evening in the Trades and Labor Hall, to discuss the question of a sympathetic strike with the C. P. W. M. of the city.
